PLEASE RETURN THIS FORM TO THE FUNERAL HOME
AND NOT TO THE PAPERS

Some obituaries are published as a free public service for current and former residents of the cities within Alaska. However, some newspapers do charge for obituaries. A funeral or memorial service notice can be placed in some newspapers at no cost. Obituaries that have fees for publications are always authorized by the family prior to publication.

All obituaries must contain a minimum of the following information to be published:

- Full Name and courtesy title
- Age
- Date, place and city of death
- Date and place of birth
- Length and dates of residency in Alaska
- Employment, if applicable
- Survivors (names & relationship), place of residency optional
- Name & phone number of someone that can be contacted if more information is needed

Missing or incomplete information may result in delayed publication

THE NEWSPAPERS RESERVED THE RIGHT TO EDIT OBITUARIES FOR LENGTH, CLARITY AND NEWS STYLE.

If families desire a different style than what is standard for the newspapers or if an obituary is to be published in newspapers outside of Alaska, there may be a fee charged by the newspapers. These fees vary by newspapers.

THE FUNERAL HOME WILL INFORM FAMILIES OF ANY FEES PRIOR TO ANY PUBLICATION FOR THEIR APPROVAL OF THE CHARGE.

Photos: If you would like a photo published with the obituary, please bring it with this guideline and it will be returned to you. A good focus that shows the person up close usually works the best.

Please proofread your information carefully

Important note: Families making arrangements with a funeral home must consult the funeral home for obituary placement. Funeral homes are linked electronically with the newspapers. Obituaries dropped off to the newspapers may be faxed to the funeral homes to be typed before being published. Newspapers make exceptions for families providing obituaries via e-mail. These obituaries must be completely typed and ready for publication, not just answers to the guideline questions.
